

THE UNIVERSITY OF
SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI.

Psyched in London! Historical and Current Contributions of British Psychologists

Credit: PSY 499ca | 6 hours

This course provides advanced coverage in selected domain areas in psychology - including clinical, developmental, industrial-organizational, neuroscience, personality, social, and statistics - with a focus on the contributions of British psychologists, philosophers, neuroscientists, and other great thinkers. Students will read from the primary literature and write a research paper on a selected topic. Planned excursions to accompany course material include the Freud Museum, the University of Oxford, and Broadmoor Psychiatric Hospital.

Taught by:
Chad M. Galuska, Ph.D.
Professor, Psychology
College of Charleston
galuskac@cofc.edu

Program Dates: June 12 - July 15, 2023
Application Deadline: Wednesday,
February 22, 2023

Freud Museum

Interested? E-mail Dr. Galuska to schedule an individual or group informational meeting!

<https://studyabroad.usm.edu/index.cfm?FuseAction=Programs.ViewProgramAngular&id=10350>

Transfers as upper-level PSYC credits: PSYC 3MM and PSYC 410.
Fulfills Honors Immersed Requirements.